2012 SUPER FREQUENCY LIST ON CD

Welcome to our new SUPER FREQUENCY LIST ON CD Edition 18! Right from its introduction already 18 years ago, this has been the only CD worldwide that includes the latest clandestine, domestic and international shortwave broadcasting schedules and the most up-to-date HF utility communications frequency list, plus more than five hundred fascinating new digital data decoder screenshots. We have made available these unique databases in printed form as well and added again a clearly arranged and easy-to-use alphabetical list of stations - see our brandnew 2012 SHORTWAVE FREQUENCY GUIDE, and sample pages showing the new typeface on our website! It is essential that you read the brodcast.pdf (or Info about BC) and the readme.pdf files thoroughly!

The superb software runs under Windows™ .../XP/VISTA/7/... Whether you are an international radio listener, a businessman or a tourist travelling worldwide, a professional monitoring service, or a circumnavigator sailing around the globe: this is the way - just a few keystrokes and you have it all!

Apart from the usual incremental search features (see Help for details), the most powerful tool is the concurrent full-text word search facility [function key F9]. Examples: In BC2012, entering the words india en

takes you, within less than a second, to 219 entries with all frequencies of All India Radio broadcasting in English. The search word sequence is free: if you enter

18:19 eu en

this gives you 36 entries with all broadcasts in English to Europe at 18:19 UTC. If you like exotic languages, tm

gives you 54 entries of all programmes worldwide in Tamil. If you enter drm

you get 108 transmissions with the interesting new Digital Radio Mondiale technique.

In UT2012, entering the words aus ssb

gives you 219 entries with all SSB frequencies of stations in Australia. If you enter ce

you get 102 entries with all Cruise Email frequencies worldwide.

dig r gives you 889 entries with all digital data + teleprinter frequencies of coastal radio stations. If you enter ale usaf

you get 205 entries with all United States Air Force stations using the special Automatic Link Establishment digital data system.

In OldFreq, entering the word

gives you 60 entries with all former Reuters frequencies from Bahrain, Beirut, Buenos Aires, Cairo, Hong Kong, Lagos, London, Montevideo, Nairobi, New York, Singapore, and Sydney.

By means of the mouse cursor in the headline of a table you can rearrange the order of the columns according to your needs, and you can modify the widths of the individual columns as well. See Help for details on these and many more fascinating features of our latest software. Enjoy it! ☺
